Successful week of sales at RLX's Leongatha saleyard

Regional Livestock Exchanges (RLX) today marked the first week of operations under its ownership of the Leongatha saleyard with three successful sale days that delivered good prices for producers and quality stock for buyers.

The Store sale today offered 2,200 head, which was a strong start to the year that included some interest from north of the border with 10% of the yarding heading to NSW. Primarily a re-stockers market of young cattle, processors secured just under 10% of the numbers with a small percentage also to feedlots.

Earlier in the week, the Annual Feature Female Sale offered just shy of 200 head of quality Beef Females. Heifers were strong, selling to a top of $3,550 and averaging $2,587 while females with calves averaged $2,860 and topped the market at $3,700.

Tuesday's Prime sale saw 32 individual purchasers operating on a typically small first sale of just over 1,000 head, with all cattle remaining in Victoria. Processors were strong, securing two-thirds of the yarding. Slaughter stock categories were firm to 30c dearer, while re-stocker cattle eased 5-30c across categories, except for dairy cows back to the paddock which gained 25c on the previous sale.

The mood was positive all week with everyone at the sales hoping for a good year.

RLX's Leongatha saleyard is an industry-leading livestock selling centre strategically located on the South Gippsland Highway. With roofing over the selling pens, soft flooring, and heavy-duty asphalt covering the surrounding area, the yard is a top-class facility serving eastern Victoria.
